EAST POINT KLAN NO. 51 SUPPORTS COL. SIMMONS

The Constitution last night was furnished with the following announcement signed by the Exalted Cyclops of East Point Klan, No. 51, Realm of Georgia:

"At a special meeting of East Point Klan, No. 51, called by the Exalted Cyclops as a result of the controversy between Col. William Joseph Simmons and H. W. Evans, the recognized Imperial Wizard, the Klan, while going on record as regretting the disruption in the ranks of our order, further went on record as sustaining Col. Simmons as titular head and founder of the order, and unanimously voted him our confidence and support in all his efforts for the advancement and upbuilding of the order."

Emperor William Joseph Simmons, founder of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan and a contender for its control against Imperial Wizard H. W. Evans, Friday underwent a hot baptism of verbal fire when Paul S. Etheridge, representing Evans, charged in Fulton superior court that Simmons' assumption of authority over the imperial palace amounted to no more than a "raids" and that the emperor had deliberately concocted a scheme to decieve the court in carrying into effect his injunction coupe d'état of Monday.

On the other hand, attorneys for Emperor Simmons contended with equal warmth that Evans is not and never has been legally chosen wizard inasmuch as his election last November did not conform to the constitution of the order. Stenographic reports of the proceedings of that occasion were produced as evidence of this contention. Simmons' counsel defended the course adopted by the emperor in the present controversy as legal in every way.

Assails Tactics.

Turning the full force of his legal batteries upon Simmons' position, counsel for Wizard Evans scathingly criticized tactics employed by the emperor's faction in the battle for supremacy, declaring that they had waited until Evans and his supporters were in New York to fraudulently seize the palace.

After hearing argument from attorneys for both factions, Judge E. D. Thomas at 5 o'clock Friday afternoon announced that he will render his decision today on his order that Simmons show cause why the injunction secured by his faction last Monday night against Evans and his faction should not be dismissed.

Attorney A. E. Etheridge made the opening argument for Evans and Attorney Paul S. Etheridge, member of the imperial klan, made the closing speech for Evans. Simmons' position was stated by Attorneys Ben H. Sullivan and J. V. Poole.

Answers Illegality Charge.

Attorney Paul S. Etheridge, in responding to the contention of Attorneys Poole and Sullivan that the election of Evans to the office of imperial wizard last November was illegal, argued that Simmons should have contested

MARKET CONTRACT CHANGE FAVORED BY FINANCE BODY

Action Is Taken After Spirited Verbal Clash
Between Alderman Carpenter and Colonel Peel.

CARPENTER TO FIGHT CONTRACT AMENDMENT

Colonel Peel Declares He Has Not Slightest Doubt
That the City Market
Will Prove Success.

A spirited verbal clash between Alderman J. L. Carpenter, of the 11th ward, and Colonel William Lawson Peel, prominent Atlantan, enlivened the regular session of council's finance committee Friday afternoon when the petition of officials of the municipal market company, of which Colonel Peel is president, requesting an amendment to the original contract with the city was being discussed.

Colonel Peel had just finished explaining to the committee reasons why the municipal market company officials desired changes in the contract so as to enable them to sell bonds in the amount of $150,000 at par value—Colonel Peel explaining that under the present contract which stipulates that the building cannot be used for any purposes other than a municipal market, the best price offered for the bonds was 96 per cent when Alderman Carpenter arose and began questioning him.

Quizzed by Carpenter. "Don't you think it better to turn this property back to the city now before we are plunged into debt on this matter?" interrogated Alderman Carpenter.

"You can put that idea out of your mind, Mr. Carpenter," quickly replied Colonel Peel. "The municipal market committee doesn't intend to do any such thing."

Turning to Alderman L. N. Ragsdale, chairman of the finance committee, Colonel Peel then went into detail concerning the progress of the market committee with regard to plans for the new building.

"It is our intention," asserted Colonel Peel, "to turn this property back to the city as soon as we are finished with the project, just like we did when the auditorium was constructed and later turned back to the city. Our sole object in asking for an amendment to this contract with the city is to enable us to get a better price for the bonds and save the city approximately $6,000 in this manner."

Believes in Project. "There isn't the slightest doubt in my mind," he continued.

POLES DEMANDING WAR WITH RUSSIA

Anger of Populace at Ex-

Threatens the Peace of Europe.

BY RALPH H. TURNER.

London, April 6.—A new menace to peace hangs over Europe.

The Polish populace, inflamed against Russia because of the execution of Vicar General Constantine Budkevich of the Roman Catholic church of Russia in Moscow, is demanding intervention by the Warsaw government.

The situation became serious Friday when 100,000 angry Poles gathered in front of the Soviet legation in Warsaw and attempted to storm it. The police, with great difficulty, succeeded in breaking up the mob.

The leaders adjourned to a nearby

America Riding Upon High Tide Of Prosperity

Ample Proof of New Industrial Boom Available for Observers.

BY WILL JOHNSON,
United News Staff Correspondent.

New York, April 6.—America is riding on the high tide of prosperity. The nation Thursday discovered ample proofs of a great new industrial boom.

These were the proofs:

1. Statement by Secretary of Treasury Mellon that the upward trend of business is "fundamentally sound."

2. Preparations by railroads to spend more than a billion dollars for equipment to meet the greatest fall rush of business in years.

3. Absence of labor troubles and of serious labor shortage.

4. Wave of building enabling steel plants to run 100 per cent.

5. Record car loadings.

6. Fewer failures.

Inflation Unlikely.

The coming period of business expansion need not lead to excessive inflation followed by hard times, financial leaders point out. The United States department of commerce is taking precautions to prevent such conditions by regulation of credit channels through the banks. Nor will the factories turn out great quantities of products that will "go dead" on the market for lack of buyers. Reports Thursday were that the active consumers' demand is equal to production and will remain so in consequence of the long "buyers' strike" through which the country has just passed.

REINTER REMAINS OF GENERAL CLARK IN MARIETTA, GA.

Body of Former Governor
Is Brought Back to Georgia by Members of the
D. A. R.

Marietta, Ga., April 6.—(Special.)

Several hundred Marietta citizens, including members of the local chapter, D. A. R., D. U. C. and the Horace Orr post, American Legion, as well as many visitors assembled at the National cemetery here this afternoon to meet the delegation coming to Marietta with the remains of General Clark.

Our association is already organized in every state in the union and long before this time next year we shall have an organization in every congressional district in the country. It may as well be accepted in advance that no candidate for the presidency or for the senate will be allowed to conceal his position for a single week on this great moral question: Whether he prefers this new national agency for peace or for the old method of brutal war for settlement of international differences?

A similar note was sounded by Oscar S. Straus, republican, secretary of commerce under Theodore Roosevelt, who said:

"Let me say to your republican friends, that if they continue to interpret the last election by claiming that their opposition to the league of nations is to not an issue in the presidential campaign next year. We shall see!"

Association Working.

"Tell it not in Gath, publish it not in the streets of Askelon, or Washington, but the suspicion grows that the churches and women's clubs and the great newspapers will have something to say about that, and that the farmers and labor unions will have something to say about it, and I promise the senator that our four million young soldiers and the League of Nations Non-Partisan association, of which he is president, Justice Clark which he is president, Justice Clark will have a great deal to say about it.

Transcends Partisanship.

"If it should finally appear that in the last election we republicans and millions of others who favor the league of nations, put our money on the wrong horse in 1920, it does not follow that we will make the same mistake in 1924. The league of nations transcends all partisanship."

John T. Boileauillet, one of Georgia's foremost orators, delivered an eloquent address in which he touched on the life of General Clark, his part in the American revolution, his governorship of Georgia and his service to the nation.

Besides serving as a warning to Turkey, Germany and Russia against disturbing the peace, he declared.

America recently discovered that the graves of General Clark and his two grandsons were in the backyard of a private dwelling almost obscured by debris.

LIQUOR DELIVERIES TO THESE PEOPLE PERFECTLY LEGAL

Chicago, April 6.—Prominent citizens of Chicago, stockholders in the liquor firm of Gronrem & Ulrich, now in process of dissolution, were replenishing their wine cellars today with the delivery to them as stockholders of their respective shares in the remaining stocks of the firm.

The liquor was being transported in covered motor trucks under government permits and guarded by federal agents.

Former Judge Charles A. Williams said the assignment of the liquor to the stockholders and the delivery, transport or storage of the liquor by the owners was entirely legal.

SERIES OF MEETINGS
FOR GEORGIA TOWNS

Campaign Will Be Started Soon for $100,000 Fund—Atlanta Will Be Asked to Give $25,000.

Definite plans for the organization of a Georgia Dairying association were launched Friday at a meeting of bankers, agricultural experts and livestock men representative of every branch of the farming industry in the state, held under the auspices of the Georgia association, at the chamber of commerce.

The outcome of the meeting was a program of inspirational meetings to be held in each member county by members of the Georgia association, ion and authorities on live stock, poultry raising and the dairy industry, beginning April 17 and lasting through May.

Within this time farmers of the respective counties will be shown the advantages of co-operative marketing, the value of proper egg selection and the possibilities in the livestock industry and organizations effected in each county for the promotion of these industries.

Nine Operations Give Blind Girl Back Her Sight

New Eyelids Are Grafted on by Marvelous Bit of Plastic Surgery.

Chicago, April 6.—After living in the "land of darkness" since infancy, a Chicago girl now is learning to read and write, after nine successful operations to graft new and controllable lids over her eyes.

This startling revelation of the progress of modern surgery was disclosed Friday, through a committee's report to the Illinois house of representatives, in commanding the work done by the eye and ear infirmary where the operation was performed.

While still an infant, according to Dr. Leo Steiner, head of the infirmary, the girl groped her way about the house. The mother, thinking it was just a momentary affliction, disregarded the seriousness of her daughter's case until she noticed the girl was "not growing out of it."

Hope and Despair.

Then came trips to eye specialists. Always there was the faint gleam of hope, which was followed by bitter disappointment, according to the story told Dr. Steiner by the mother.

The little blind child has made all preparations to live her life in the darkness, which became more intensive as month after month passed by with no relief for her in sight. She played with her dolls, as any other girl does, and learned to read by touch.

FRENCH COLLECT FINES BY FORCE IN GERMAN TOWN

Essen, April 6.—(By the Associated Press.)—Bochum is again the storm-center in the Ruhr because of repeated acts of individuals against the French troops and the continued refusal to the German authorities to obey French army orders. Penalties have been imposed on the city and French troops yesterday collected the fines by force.

The streets on which the banks are located were blocked by troops, while a detachment went into the Reichsbank branch and seized 250,000,000 marks. This sum was from funds sent to the city from Berlin to pay the French fine, but about a third of the fund was intended for payments in connection with the resistance movement, the French contend.

Bochum is still without police protection, as the Germans have refused to organize a municipal police force to replace the expelled security police. The firemen are consequently patrolling parts of the city at night and respond to police calls in the daytime. On days when there is no German unrest the French send up sausage observation balloons from which they watch the movements of the population.

RABBI SUCCUMBS TO BEATING GIVEN BY UNKNOWN MAN

San Francisco, April 6.—Rabbi Alfred J. Lafee, of the Bush Street temple, who was beaten into unconsciousness by an unidentified man in a hotel room Tuesday night, died today. The rabbi, who was 22 years old, had been unconscious since the attack. Last night he underwent an operation.

Rabbi Lafee's mysterious assailant was a strongly built man, who wore the uniform of an American seaman.

Rabbi Lafee and the stranger met in a hotel room Tuesday night, died today.

The call failed to get a response from the rabbi, and the clerk, investigating, found him leaning against a wash stand, senseless from a battered skull and an attempt to strangle him. Marks on his neck indicated that a rope or twisted sheet had been used.

One of the places bombed was a printing shop where "Dawn," a Klan publication, was issued until recently.

The other building bombed was the basement office of F. W. Gilliland, a roofer and an advertiser in "Dawn."

Gilliland and his wife, members of the Klan, admitted membership in the Klan and expressed the opinion that enemies of the organization were responsible for the bombing.

Edwin J. Parker, editor of "Dawn," also said that he had received threatening letters recently and expressed the belief Klan enemies were responsible.

Robert E. Shepard, Sr., editor of "Tolerance," said the man whom the police wish to question had been a former solicitor for "Tolerance."

HELICOPTER SUCCESS IN SHORT FLIGHTS

Dayton, Ohio, April 6.—(By the Associated Press)—Flights of more than 20 feet in height were made early this morning at McCook field with the De Bothezat helicopter, which rises straight in the air without a running start.

While the flights were not of any great duration, they proved, Dr. George De Bothezat, inventor of the machine, said, that with the new engine which will be installed, the machine will reach greater heights and will be capable of making short trips from one point to another.

Dr. De Bothezat pointed out that as the pilot, he is Thurman Bane, formerly commandant at McCook field, becomes more familiar with the helicopter, the flights are becoming correspondingly more successful.

LaGrange Gets 1924 Session Of Baptist S. S. Convention

Convention Which Closed Friday in Cordele Said to Have Been Best in History.

Cordele, Ga., April 6.—(Special)—LaGrange gets the 1924 session of the Georgia Baptist Sunday school convention. The sessions tonight closed one of the best conventions Cordele has ever had the pleasure of entertaining and to the Baptist Sunday school workers it has been the best the state has ever afforded.

LaGrange was given the convention after a survey of the crowds and the management of the other programs which were run by Secretary George W. Andrews, when he found that the main auditorium of the Baptist church here could not meet the needs of so large a body. The LaGrange delegates gave assurance of offering all necessary accommodations.

B. G. Norman of Washington, was selected president and Vice-Mr. Martin A. Wood, of Macon, secretary and treasurer. Other officers are George W. Andrews, Georgia Baptist convention secretary Sunday school department; James M. Merritt, state field worker, and Mrs. O. M. Gerald, elementary superintendent.

While the sessions have been less crowded, due to the fact that many of the delegates departed during the day, there were full sessions in all branches, divisional conferences, and other specific departmental work in the hands of such workers as Miss Annie L. Williams, of Birmingham, Ala., and Miss Margaret Trout of Louisville, Ky.; Mrs. C. C. Nashville; George W. Andrews, of Atlanta, and a number of state Sunday school workers were engaged during the day's program in especially appealing work. The program was full to overflowing with the work of specialists in all lines.

Fish Fry.

At the noon hour the men of the city provided a unique style fish fry to which all the delegates and their wives in the city were invited. This proved equally delightful and as bountiful as did the fine picnic dinner yesterday furnished by the ladies.

The delegates were hurried away immediately after this spread to Vienna, where a program was rendered by Double "A" standards by Arthur Flack, Rev. T. W. Tippett, of Vienna, is pastor in both the churches of these two denominations.

The crowds returned here tonight and resumed the last of the programs at the Baptist church. Rev. H. L. Johnson, of Valdosta; Miss Virginia Lee, of Nashville, Tenn.; Dr. Homer L. Grice, of Washington, Ga., and others were on this program.

Tracing the growth of Sunday school activities from the synagogue system of Bible schools under the Jews down to the present time, George W. Andrews, secretary of the Sunday school department of the Georgia Baptist convention, was one of the chief speakers this morning.

The credit for inaugurating the modern Sunday school movement is generally given Robert Raikes, of Gloucester, England. Mr. Andrews said, "He who deserved the first seems to warrant the statement that the credit should be given to William Fox, a deacon of the Prescott Street church, London."

Discusses Beginning.

Discussing the beginning of the movement, Mr. Andrews said: "In July, 1780, Robert Raikes gathered a number of boys into the home of a private family and paid four teachers to give them instruction in reading, writing and arithmetic, spelling, etc. His school met on Sunday. In 1782 he published an account of this work and refers to it as his attempt at civilization. Religious instruction had no part in the curriculum. Before the account of this school was made public, William Fox had purchased his father's home estate and established a school with the open Bible as text book in the hands of student and teacher."

"His school met on week days. In May 1785 at the Baptist monthly meeting in London, Dr. Fox introduced a resolution requesting the various denominations of England to unite in organizing a society to promote Bible study among the children. The

The program was full to overflowing with the work of specialists in all lines.

W. A. Harshorn succeeded Mr. Jacobs as president of the World's Sunday school convention.

D. Warren Randolph was the first president of the international lesson committee.

John R. Sampier worked out the first courses of advanced international lessons and is still an active member of the committee.

Julieta Dimock Dudley started the cradle roll.

H. E. J. Howland organized the first primary department and has made that movement popular.

Marshall A. Hudson gave us the organized class idea.

Professor B. H. Dement occupied the first full professorship of Sunday school pedagogy in any theological seminary in the world.

Dr. B. W. Spilman directed the launching of the teacher's training course which has made possible the marvelous Sunday school development.

The Baptist schools of the state have shown a large increase during the period he has been connected with the school. Mr. Andrews stated, during the year from 1922 to 1923, the number has grown to more than $8,000; the enrollments have increased from 78,000 to 234,000 and that within the past thirteen years the educational department of the Sunday school board of the Southern Baptist convention has awarded 10,815 diplomas to Georgia students and is still according to him at an average rate of about a month. "And what has occurred in Georgia is in a very large way duplicated in every state in the Southern Baptist convention," he declared.

VITAL TO THE SOUTH.
In a recent address Representative Addison T. Smith, of Idaho, chairman of the house committee on arid lands, declared—

"National reclamation became a definite policy of the government not wholly by reason of western effort and pleading. The passage of the law was due to the generous support of the south and some of the manufacturing centers of the east."

"In all propositions looking to an expansion of land reclamation and development, the west is bound to give consideration to the demands of those sections for recognition in this work. We of the west have a most important duty to perform, and that is to sell reclamation to the whole country. There should be a unified effort on the part of the west to initiate a campaign of publicity throughout the country to educate the people as to the material benefits which flow from this work. In order to do this successfully we shall have to disregard local projects for the time being and concentrate on plans of national scope. In other words, California must indicate the same reciprocal spirit of interest in the demands of Georgia, Alabama or other states for recognition in the federal policy as in her own projects."

The Smith-McNary bill was drawn after careful consideration of the demands of many states. Its enactment into law will launch a nation-wide program of home-making on a self-sustaining and self-containing basis with benefits widely distributed."

These are burning words, coming direct from the west from the highest authority in America on reclamation legislation, and the actual author of the bill that has found general and generous support throughout the country.

They express the same thought that The Constitution time and again, editorially and through its Washington correspondence, has impressed upon its readers—

That the federal policy of reclamation must be nation-wide in its scope, and that the country must be acquainted with the importance of formulating plans for extending reclamation to other states than those of the arid west.

And now the west itself is coming to that viewpoint, and the most outstanding figure in arid reclamation is demanding a broader vision, and a nation-wide scope of reclamation activities.

The fact is—

The public mind has heretofore been educated to believe that all the great federal reclamation opportunities are in the west; and because of the vast government undertakings of this nature in the west, some of which are now in the building, many have become imbued with the idea that further undertakings, extending particularly to the southeast where reclamation possibilities are potential, are impossible.

They are not impossible; and in this day of national industrial and economic reconstruction the south should renew its efforts to have the government undertake in reality these programs that have existed heretofore only as dreams.

The nation must give careful consideration to a distribution—an equitable distribution—of its increasing population.

The greatest assurance of national stability rests upon a citizenship composed largely of land owners occupying self-supporting homes.

The tendency toward a greater tenancy on the farms is one of the most serious economic conditions that confront the south, and particularly Georgia.

This was made clear at the dinner of the Atlanta Presidents' club Thursday evening at which George T. Bettis, president of the Georgia association, declared that Georgia today had more tenant farmers in proportion to farm population than any state of the union, and with the boll weevil standing as a peril at the gate of every cotton farm, the situation is likely to get worse unless the farmers rally to the call for greater thrift, more system in farm operations, more business methods, more understanding, more intelligent operations.

Tenancy does not encourage this new and necessary standard for farm progress. On the other hand, this standard leads away from tenancy to ownership. The land owner is by the very nature of things a more constructive citizen than the land tenant.

The responsibility of the people of Georgia is to cure farm tenancy as far as possible by helping the thrifty tenant who aspires to be a land owner, his own landlord and master, to attain that end. That one advancement will automatically help in many other economic problems that revolve around farm life and production.

In the south today the building of the long proposed Atlantic-Gulf canal from St. Marys, Ga., to St. Marks, Fla., thus carrying the waterway to the outlet of the Mississippi at New Orleans, would reclaim millions of acres of lands as fertile as those in the valleys of the Nile.

There are reclamation opportunities in the hill country that would not only open great areas of excellent farm and fruit lands, but make possible the harnessing of the streams for greater hydro-electric development.

Reclamation should be a national policy, so broad that it favored no section as against the others, as the present policy is supposed to do. And to that end the south can well afford to get actively organized behind the Smith-McNary measure. It will be one of the big issues of the next congress.

AN IMPORTANT APPEAL.

There is sound reason in the appeal of the American Railway association for thorough and systematic co-operation between shippers, dealers and carriers in order to avoid an impending traffic jam.

The roads ask that shippers conserve space and help keep cars moving; that dealers and consumers get their coal into bins early; that the bulk of ore and coal shipments on the Great Lakes be completed early in the summer; that road and construction work be started as soon as possible so rail equipment may be available for crop movements in the fall.

The Associated Press, reporting the appeal of the association, says:

"On their part the roads will try to have an extraordinary number of good order locomotives and cars available in the fall to have all coal intended for railroad use in storage by September 1, to restrict the transportation of railroad supplies to the minimum during the fall rush, and to help keep every car moving."

This is a matter of serious concern as it relates to the readjusting of economic conditions of the country.

Perishables are now moving in great quantities from the gulf states, and shortly the movement will begin from Georgia. Peaches, melons, cantaloupes, potatoes, berries all demand heavy rail tonnage, particularly peaches and melons.

The fact is outstanding that more cars have been loaded with revenue freight to date this year than ever before in a similar season in the history of the railroads.

That is a startling statement, but it is backed up by figures.

From January 1 to March 17, inclusive, 9,474,662 cars were loaded. This was an increase of 1,232,574 over the total for the corresponding week last year, and an increase of 1,808,466 cars over the corresponding period in 1921. This also was a substantial increase over the totals for the corresponding periods in 1918, 1919 and 1920.

Loading of revenue freight during the week which ended on March 17, reports for which became available this week, totaled 904,286 cars. Compared with the corresponding week last year, this was an increase of 89,204 cars, and with the corresponding week in 1921, an increase of 212,800 cars.

These are figures to think about, and to visualize what is in store at the peak of this year's shipping season, despite the efforts of the roads to rush their reparations, and to make available every car possible.

In analyzing the differentials from which the above totals are compiled it is evident that the tremendous increase in moving tonnage is in merchandise and building material only, the production shipments, even in live stock, showing decreases as compared to the corresponding period in 1922.

This does not in the abstract look as healthy as one might assume from a casual glance at the figures. It shows that producers everywhere are buying heavily of supplies, including fertilizers, and that building everywhere is literally booming, and yet it is an economic fact that production must be depended upon to eventually meet all of these enormous merchandise investments.

This accentuates the necessity for thorough co-operation all along the line to help the producer not only in the growth of his products, but in their marketing, which also means facilitating the movements.

This appeal of the railroads is timely, thoughtful, and commercial and civic and farm organizations and groups everywhere should study the situation intelligently and cooperate to meet it to the material advantage of the country.

April's Chariot.

I saw sweet April's chariot
Flame high and fair,
With ropes of redoubts stretching out
And fastened to each star.
It's wheels were made of crocus blooms.

Its helm of lilles rare,
And at the reins fair April stood,
With bacchant in her hair.
It sailed across the moonlit sky
And lit the morn with a hill,
With magic wand she touched and woke

Each sleeping daffodil;

She touched the barest poplar trees

And soon their silken green

Was out and glistening in the dawn
With iridescent sheen.

She called unto the sleeping vales,
Unto the mountain's wide,

And grass and bud and bird awoke

On every countryside;

She danced down to a babbling brook,

Then danced back up the hill,

And in her dressed chariot

She rose o'er vale and rill,

And petals white and pink

We soft'ly wakin' down

And like sweet crocus blooms

Soon covered every town.

On up it went, where tranquil stars

Were dying one by one,

Then faded like a phantom ship

Against the rising sun!

CALCIUM ARSENATE SHORTAGE PREDICTED

But Lack of Weevil Poison Will Not Be So Acute as Expected.

Washington, April 6.—Although not nearly so acute as was expected in the early fall, a definite shortage of calcium arsenate by the time cotton dusters become active against the boll weevil appears likely from present indications, according to B. R. Coad, of the department of agricultural in charge of the Delta laboratory at Tifton, Ga.

In a report to the department, Mr. Coad estimated that about sixteen million pounds of calcium arsenate was used on the cotton fields of the south last year, and there would be a demand for more than thirty million pounds this year.

"The new manufacturing program for calcium arsenate product up to June, 1923, made in October, 1922," said Mr. Coad, "showed that, according to the plans then existing, only about ten and a half or eleven million pounds would be produced."

"A short time ago a canvass of the entire situation was made and it was found there is apparently a definite certainty of production practically doubling that in prospect last October. Combining the material already produced with the anticipated production, for which white arsenic is now available, about twenty-five million pounds is available.

There are quite a number of other sources which can not be measured definitely as yet, but which the aggregate will probably be able to produce a considerable quantity. Consequently, there seems little doubt that, if demand will justify continued production, at least twenty-five million pounds of calcium arsenate will be available."

The petition for injunction alleges that the new ordinance is discriminatory because it permits parking in front of competing business houses, the corner from Buehler Brothers.

The business of the store, which normally averages $375 per day, has been reduced to $250 per day during the time the new ordinance has been in force, according to the petition. Mrs. Buehler claims that she can not continue in business, paying a rental of $400 a month, and meets out-of-pocket expenses. If the parking of the store is permanently reduced by the non-parking rule, several instances are cited in the petition where former patrons have taken their trade elsewhere because they are not permitted to park automobiles in front of the store.

ACTION OF ROBERTS DEPLORED BY BARROW

Chancellor and Dean Snelling Send Affidavits to Governor Hardwick.

Affidavits signed by Chancellor David C. Barrow and Dean Charles M. Snelling, of the faculty of the University, concerning injunction instituted by John R. Roberts, law student, at the university to prevent his being expelled and declaring that but for advice of "poorly informed and inexperienced friends there would have been no occasion for the mix-up," were received Friday by Governor Thomas W. Hardwick.

In addition to the affidavits, Dean Snelling enclosed copies of the answers he and Chancellor Barrow will make to the petition of Roberts and declares in his letter to the governor that had Roberts "waited for the student body to act before appealing to the courts, he would have been informed as to his rights in the premises."

No student is suspended or expelled from the university without a chance to be heard in his own defense and without careful inquiry into the facts and circumstances of his case," states the petition. "The chancellor has recommended disciplinary measures against Mr. Roberts he would have been entitled to an investigation of his case de novo by the chancellor or a committee of the faculty appointed by the chancellor which always renders final judgment in such matters."

Dean Snelling, in his copy of the answer sent the governor stated that he is "informed that charges were lodged with the student council against the plaintiff accusing him of drunkenness at the Colonial theater on the night of March 16, during a performance given by the Boston glee club, and yelling from a box at the young women taking part in the performance; accusing him of being drunk at a session of the moot court of the university law school on or about February 17, while he was acting as solicitor of the court, and of being drunk on another occasion on or about January 27."

The dean declares that before the proceedings were brought before the student council, he had a conversation with Roberts, talking with him as a friend and in no official capacity, and he alleges that Roberts freely admitted his drinking and that time expressed regret and promised reformation. In obtaining the writ of injunction to prevent his expulsion from the university Roberts claimed that he and several other students were tried before the student council of the institution on charges of disorderly conduct and that his expulsion was recommended without his being extended an opportunity to present evidence which, he claims, would prove his innocence.

Dean Snelling was cited last Wednesday by Judge Blanton Fortson to appear before the court on Saturday and show cause why he should not be considered in contempt of court for action taken in expelling Roberts.

NON-PARKING LAW ASSAILED IN SUIT

Mrs. Phoebe Buehler Says Her Meat Market Business Is Being Ruined by New Law.

Claiming that her meat market business is being ruined by the new non-parking regulation for Alabama street between Forsyth and Broad, Mrs. Phoebe Buehler, owner of Buehler Brothers market, Friday brought suit against the City of Atlanta to restrain enforcement of the new ordinance in so far as relates to parking of automobiles on that block.

The petition was filed by Attorney Norman T. Miller before Judge George L. Bell, who has set April 16 for trial.

The petition for injunction alleges that the new ordinance is discriminatory because it permits parking in front of competing business houses, the corner from Buehler Brothers.

The business of the store, which normally averages $375 per day, has been reduced to $250 per day during the time the new ordinance has been in force, according to the petition. TWO GIRLS FOUND DEAD BY ROADWAY

Throats of Young Women Cut—Bodies Found Early Friday by Passing Milkman.

New York, April 6.—James Bladino, a barber, and Brovario Di Lorenzo, his assistant, were ordered held by District Attorney Malloy tonight as material witnesses in the murder of Miss Bessie McMahon, Utica, and Mrs. Irene Blandino, of Jersey City, whose bodies were found in a lonely road this morning.

Miss McMahon and Mrs. Blandino were stabbed to death early this morning with a butcher knife and their bodies dumped from a motor car on a lonely stretch of road near Stapleton, Staten Island.

Scenes of an unpolished police and detective work on the day of the case still had not ascertained just where the crime occurred, though committed it or what was the motive.

Mrs. Blandino's second husband, James, a barber in Jersey City, identified the bodies and with Brovario Di Lorenzo, an assistant in his barbershop, was subjected to a long questioning.

Walter Sterling, a taxicab driver, who had told detectives he drove two women answering the general description of the same pair, together with three men to an address near the spot where the bodies were found, was confronted with Blandino and Di Lorenzo, who could not identify them as members of the party. Neither could he say definitely whether the bodies which he saw shrouded on slabs in the morgue were those of the women who had driven in his machine.

Blandino admitted he was absent from home until 2 o'clock this morning and relatives of Mrs. Blandino at Utica said he had been intensely jealous of her, but Blandino, never having shown a boy, however, said he did not leave Jersey City last night.

The clue on which police bank most, long-ago butcher knife found in Mrs. Blandino's purse in the bodies had been traced tonight.

Police said the murder could not have been committed at the spot where the bodies were found because no mud had been found on the shoes, although the ground was soaked with rain which continued until a late hour last night. The clothing was not wet, they said.

He fell 40 feet to the roof below. His neck was broken and his skull was crushed by the fall.

Royce and another man, who is a trick bicyclist, arrived in Murfreesboro this morning. They claimed to be daredevil steeplejacks and obtained permission for an exhibition tonight.

The admission of $12 was taken up for Royce among the 200 spectators before he started his fatal climb.

He fell after he had reached the top of the steeple. He had descended part of the way and rested on a ledge. Then he started back to the top, but his grasp slipped and he fell backward to the roof below.

ATLANTA IS 33D CITY OF AMERICA

New Census Bureau Figures Give City Total Population of 222,963, on 1920 Basis.

Washington, April 6.—Several changes in the relative size of the larger American cities are indicated by new census figures, based on the assumption that growth conditions prevailing in 1920 in the various localities are continuing.

The new estimates show that eight of the fifty larger municipalities have replaced their nearest rival, and that two have been shown out of the fifty largest cities. New York is shown to be approaching closely the 6,000,000 mark; Chicago is not far from the 2,000,000, and Detroit is near 1,900,000. There have been no changes in the rank of the first six largest cities.

Baltimore has gone ahead of Boston and now ranks as seventh largest city of the country. Los Angeles has passed Pittsburgh and taken ninth rank. San Francisco has grown larger than Buffalo and goes into eleventh place. Minneapolis has outgrown two cities, Cincinnati and New Orleans, and now is sixth. Columbus, Ohio, has passed Providence and now ranks tenth. Birmingham San Antonio and Dallas also have forced ahead in the table of relative size.

Scranton and Paterson, 47th and 49th cities respectively, in 1920, have been forced out of the first 50 cities, into 53rd and 54th places by Norfolk and Springfield, Mass.

The remaining 100 cities in the 100,000 class in 1920 show probable totals as of July 1, 1923, as follows:

Other Obligations.

The other three obligations, he dismissed with briefer discussion. On the provision prohibiting members from declaring war without first submitting the grievance to the league, he pointed out that there was nothing to prevent America, after so submitting her grievance, from "appealing to the rest of the world which means on the continent on which the prospect of war may appear."

"Thus you see, this terrifying Article 10 becomes our old friend, the Monroe Doctrine, which the bitter-enders declared so confidently would certainly be destroyed by it."

"But if any timid soul doubts this, let the present, as we may do, single statesmen, who are now joining in the league we internet Article 10 as being subject to our constitutional limitation that only congress shall declare war."

FE SYSTEM HIT BY LABOR BODY

Vigorous Resolutions Adopted by Railway Employees—All Local Labor Units Asked to Aid.

Announcement was made Friday that vigorous resolutions were adopted Tuesday night by the Atlanta Federation of Railway Employers calling upon the Georgia legislature to change the present fee system of remunerating solicitor-generals and other court officers.

A hot letter of protest was sent out by the railway employees to the various local unions affiliated with the Atlanta Federation of Trades, calling upon them to enter the campaign against the fee system.

Resolutions Passed.

The resolution, which was unanimously adopted, read as follows:

Whereas, we, the members of the Atlanta Federation of Railway Employees, are deeply interested in the efficient operation of our industry, state and federal governments; and,

Whereas, we are equally interested in the financial interests of society in the following respects, and,

Whereas, we feel that the present system of pay, commonly known as the fee system, is conducive of inefficiency and neglect that is injurious to the welfare of society; that it is an exorbitant cost to the taxpayers of the state; therefore, be it

Resolved, that the immediate, fair abolition of the fee system of pay and the establishment of fair and sufficient salaries for the various offices that at the present time operate on the fee system; and be it further

Resolved, that we will exert all our efforts to see that the bill is introduced and existing in the passage of the bill to be re-introduced in the legislature this summer, to abolish the fee system in Fulton county.

The fee system permits the officials to draw pay several times the salary of the governor, the mayor of Atlanta, the members of the state legislature, the judge of the federal court in this district.

The main excuse for the lobbyists who defend the fee system is that they will tend to their duties while on the fee system, but are likely to neglect it if they are paid a specified sum.

In response to this, it is said, that such a sum will carry any weight with a body of lawmakers, but to the sorrow of many men in the country, who are capable of holding these positions, so lacking in their knowledge that they do not care to be elected unless there is a huge graft attached to the place? Such a thought is utterly absurd when we remember that all of the services of society are conducted by men or religious institutions are filled by men.

The southern conference of the student fellowship movement for Christian life service opened Friday evening with representatives from 28 leading colleges and universities of the south in attendance. These students have gathered here for a three-day session to discuss the life work problems confronting the student which will confront him as he begins his business career.

The opening session was addressed by Dr. Ashby Jones upon the subject "Is America Christian?" The meeting was opened by a devotional led by Rev. Edward Nason McKinley. Music was furnished by the Clark University quartet.

Among the speakers who will address the conference are Dr. Peter Shih of China; Dudley Howard of the University of Southern California; Walter Muller, of Northwestern university; O. T. Gilmore, of the University of Virginia; Rev. Edward Nason McKinley; Dr. Bark of Washington University; Dr. Ashby Jones and Miss Jessie White, general secretary of the service for Christian life service.

The following colleges and universities are represented: Tennessee, Alabama, Virginia, Vanderbilt, Deland, Stetson, Peabody, Florida, Tech, Ogletown, Emory, Carnegie, Maryville, Wesleyan, Southern, Y. M. C. A., Centenary, Washington and Lee, Clarendon, Wofford, Centenary, Atlanta Theological seminary and Atlanta university.

my mind but that the municipal market will be a success. The plans are already drawn and I think with the slight amendment to the contract—that there will be no difficulty in disposing of these bonds at par value. We are simply asking that the contract be revised so as to protect the bondholders and allow us to conduct any other legitimate business in this building should the municipal market fail to turn out successfully."

Alderman Caen entered vigorously opposing the changing the contract, stating that the municipal market company should carry out its original agreement or turn back to the city the money.

"We need every penny we can make and scrape at the present for other purposes," declared Mr. Carpenter. "There are innumerable demands for water works extension, street and sidewalk paving and many other crying needs of decidedly more importance than ours."

Mr. Johnston would not say what answer she made to him, before snapping up the receiver, but he added to reporters, "She certainly has a poor opinion of Grady, and I know we will be on her blacklist from now on."

Opposed to Market.

"I fought this same thing in council last year, believing it to be a ridiculous expenditure of the people's money, and shall continue to fight it so long as I am successful. I am unalterably opposed to changing this contract in any way and shall fight it when it is introduced before general council."

Several members of the Atlanta Woman's club, including Mrs. B. M. Kirk, Mrs. Norman Sharp and Mrs. Almon Richardson, appeared in behalf of the proposal and stated that the municipal market would be the best thing Atlanta has done in many years for its citizenry.

This sentiment was echoed by Alderman R. A. Gordon, Alderman A. T. Cochran, Councilman R. F. Gilliam and Councilman J. Allen Couch.

With the exception of Alderman Carpenter, the Finance Committee unanimously approved the amendment and several members declared they would urge its adoption in council at the next session. Alderman Carpenter declared he would introduce a minority report against the proposed amendment.

A member of the British parliament recently divided a 30,000 constituent to tea with him in the house of commons. As the constituency is 400 miles from London the offered was not accepted by me.

POISON CASE PROBED

13-Year-Old Boy Poisoned.

Police Investigating.

Police are probing the circumstances leading to the poisoning of John William Willbanks, 13, of 71 Brotherton street, who became suddenly ill Friday night and was rushed to Grady hospital where he is reported in a serious condition. Police believe that some passers-by offered the boy a drink which contained poison.

The man, Ese said, walked into his place, ordered a wiener and cold drink, and after eating pulled out a pistol, but saw the man coming and left. Police have a good description of the man and are searching for him.

Atlanta Chapter U. D. C. Honors D. A. R. Regents and Delegates

The Atlanta chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy honored the visiting delegates to the D. A. R. convention and the three regents of the Atlanta chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution with a beautiful buffet luncheon Friday in the chapter house of the U. D. C. at the corner of Juniper and Fifth streets.

The lovely rooms of the chapter house were decorated with a profusion of garden flowers suggestive of the first days of spring. In the dining room, where a central table was placed, the colors of the Confederacy, red and white, were used entirely in the floral decorations. The lovely long branches of the red flowering pear were placed in a great silver bowl in the center of the table and around this were placed silver candle holders with red candles, shaded with white silk shades.

On the coffee table, also placed in this room Easter lilies and the lovely red snap-dragons were used to carry out the color scheme.

FINISH DEVELOPMENT OF NEW SUBURB SOON

To Grade Roads and Install Conveniences in Kralcke Park.

Announcement was made Friday that final plans for the completion of the development work in Kralcke park were consummated at a meeting of the stockholders of the company held in its offices in the Flatiron building.

According to the announcement, work has been progressing steadily for the past six months in grading the roads, installing water works and electric lights and in the beautifying of the property. The stockholders at their meeting voted to run the work along with no formal statement was made. It is understood that the residence lots in the subdivision will be placed on the market at an early date.

Lying between Hemphill avenue, Collier road and Howell Mill road, this property will be accessible from practically every direction, and its ease of approach to the center of the city will be greatly enhanced by these splendid arterties that carry great streams of automobile traffic to and from Atlanta.

The location of Kralcke park is one of the most beautiful that can be found near the corporate limits of Atlanta, and the tract, it has been stated by experienced realty men, can be made one of the most splendid residence sections available in Fulton county.

The fine tract of land will be carefully treated by landscape architects in order that its beauty of topography and its many advantages of location may be brought out to the fullest extent, and when completed, it is believed this will be one of the most magnificent residence centers within several miles of Atlanta.

DISMISS CHARGES AGAINST SAILOR IN COURT FRIDAY

Charges of disorderly conduct against James A. Osborn, a sailor, who is alleged to have administered a severe beating to A. D. Barron, of 122 Peachtree street, the latter is said to have insulted Osborn's sister, were dismissed Friday morning by Recorder George E. Johnson.

Barron, who was carried to Grady hospital for treatment, forfeited a cash collateral of $20, which he posted to insure his appearance at trial.

Osborn explained to the court that he was walking with his sister along Forsyth street, and as he passed a prominent corner Barron made an insulting remark to her. The fight followed.

Many Incidents Mark Program Of Entertainment

Many interesting incidents marked Friday's program planned in compliment to the delegates attending the D. A. R. conference.

The trip to Stone Mountain was first on the day's calendar, and to the side of the mountain where will be carved the memorial to the heroes of the Confederacy who fought for the principles inherited from their revolutionaries.

The group of notable figures gathered at the foot of the mountain included S. H. Venable, owner of the mountain, who has given the place for the memorial to be carved and whose dearest wish is that it be suitable; his sister, Mrs. Frank Mason; Dr. James N. Ellis; Mrs. Ella Powell, related to the visitors a brief history of the great memorial, doing this in the place of Gutson Borglum, the sculptor, who was unavoidably prevented from being present; Mrs. Joseph Morgan, life president of the Pioneer Women's Society, and first president of the Atlanta Memorial association; Mrs. Charles T. Phillips, president of the Atlanta chapter; United Daughters of the Confederacy; Dr. and Mrs. Pittman, Mrs. Cole and Miss Mary Cole, of New York, formerly of North Carolina, and Mrs. Joseph T. Orme.

The Tech High orchestra played "Song and Stripes Forever" as the guests arose, and when Miss Ella Powell ended her talk on the "History of the Memorial," the orchestra played "Dixie."

Mrs. Byron Carter, Miss Ingraham, Erin Farley and A. W. Brownson rendered several exquisite vocal numbers.

Moving pictures were made of this notable group and will be preserved as historical records.

The visit to the marvelous greenhouses of Mr. and Mrs. Asa G. Gardner, Jr., was made on the return trip. Emory university was also on the itinerary and at "The Wren's Nest," the home of Joel Chandler Harris, which is being preserved in Warner Hill is treasurer, will occupy its new class room, which was recently erected in the rear of the church Sunday morning. The old schedule of three cars in eight minutes has been restored on the Whitehall-Peachtree street line between Fourteenth street and Holden street. The rush hour schedule calling for three cars in eight minutes has been reinaugurated it was announced Friday by the Georgia Rail-

What Women Wear

BY ANNE RITTENHOUSE

The Three-Piece Costume is the latest. It is Revived for Spring. It is called "The Three-Piece" because it offers a multitude of Blouses to Suit Various Days and Changing Moods. The Cape Rivals the Coat Much to the Delight of Women Who Realize Its Possibilities.

It is not necessary that every street suit possess a jacket. A cape will do. This garment is back with warm weather. It's a comfortable garment therefore women like it.

When it is chosen as part of a street suit it should not be different from the skirt or the blouse. It doesn't mean a skirt in one color and fabric, a blouse of another and a cape of a third. Whatever the fabric of the blouse, the coat or cape must match the skirt.

There's a revival of navy blue twill this season, and dressmakers take advantage of it to build loose robes that will be soft and flowing, and just where one may have the room for the revival of the empire it displays the tiered silks that every woman seems determined to possess, whether or not they are suitable for her especial style of figure.

The sketch shows a three-piece costume of dark blue twill which carries a blaze of brilliancy in the blouse and cape lining; the design of the silk is an animated Egyptian scene on

COULD HARDLY DO ANY WORK
But Since Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound This Woman Feels So Well

Keesville, N.Y.—"I cannot praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound enough for the good it has done me. I was so much troubled with female weakness I could hardly do any work. I saw your advertisement in the paper, and read it to my husband. He said, 'You had better try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound,' so I bought six bottles, and by taking it I am not troubled as I was. I am gaining strength and getting fleshy. My female troubles have vanished and I have never felt so well. The Liver Pills are the best I ever took. If you think my letter will encourage other sufferers, you will have my permission to use it as an advertisement."—MRS. SARAH BLAISE, Box 177, Keesville, N.Y.

Doing the housework for the average American family is some task, and many women lose their health in so doing. If you, as a housewife, are troubled with backache, irregularities, are easily tired out and irritable, or have other disagreeable ailments caused by some weakness, give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. Let it help you.

SHIP SUDDENLY SINKS IN SIGHT OF COAST

Vineyard Haven, Mass., April 6.—When the heavy fog which has prevailed for hours lifted today, the Cuttyhunk, a 150-foot long, apparently a steam trawler, flying what appeared to be distress signals. As they watched, the craft suddenly sank. A tank in the vicinity revealed no trace of the crew but it is thought they had left in their own boats before the craft was sighted.

There are sport jackets without sleeves, short coats like Robin Hood's jerkin, medieval belted bodices from which emerge splendid sleeves of brocaded or figured silk.

There are sport jackets of white cotton, short sleeves as an expression of the simpler days from under which there Rumonian, Egyptian and Russian sleeves of unbleached muslin, grecian embroidered with a cross-stitch of birds or animals.

Whatever the sleeve, it's light at the wrist. This is a thin, thin arm covering, flowing widely open at the hand, but they have been steadily replaced by sleeves worn by the peasant class of Italy during the Renaissance; also the masculine sleeves of Persia, the Egyptian sleeves that wrinkle at the wrist, and medieval sleeves that extend to the knuckles.

The incoming of Persian tunics which are often sleeveless, but ornately embroidered or braided with galloon and splendidly belted, may bring about a stronger fashion for sleeveless coats. The fashion may continue through the autumn. That's what the experts think. At this hour it is generously incorporated in sport clothes. Long waistcoats of cretonne, India cotton or embroidered crepe are placed over shirts and jackets are worn over them.

It is not necessary that every street suit possess a jacket. A cape will do. This garment is back with warm weather. It's a comfortable garment therefore women like it.

it is possible to use up every last scrap of a boiled or baked ham. And even the last bit will be delicious, worth several and worth eating. The whole trick lies in having at hand enough scraps of using it.

Ham sandwiches made from minced ham mixed with cheese and mustard are delicious. Ham minced and added to scrambled eggs is also good. Slices of boiled ham broiled for a few moments until they curl and sizzle are good for breakfast or luncheon. Ham cut into dice and mixed with cold boiled diced potatoes and diced celery are then with mayonnaise makes a substantial and good salad. And there are some other ways to make the most of a ham as well as the first.

Ham on Toast—Make a cream sauce and to it add a cup of minced boiled ham. Heat thoroughly, spread on toast and garnish with chopped ham.

Ham Au Gratin—Make minced ham or ham cut into paste with creamed butter and mustard, and garnished with minced olives, spread on.

Ham Trifle—Chop one cup cold boiled ham, three hard boiled eggs and five soda crackers. Chicken two cups of milk with a teaspoon of flour rubbed in with two of ham. Add this to the ham mixture and bake in a buttered dish for twenty-five minutes.

Governor to Commute All Death Sentences Before Leaving Office

Oklahoma City, April 6.—Governor J. C. Walton today told newspapermen that he intends to commute all death sentences of prisoners at the state penitentiary to life imprisonment, asserting that he would not pass the cases to the next governor by a series of reprieves.

STOCK LETTER.

New York, April 6.—Sub. Boat seems to have started for Europe again, though the general market may reach a little higher tomorrow and we believe the rails will be bought. The following is New York's latest Post from the railroads. March earnings: While, of course, no official reports of March railroad earnings are available, it is believed that the figures for the month which have been completed indicate that for some time at least the railroads were in a position to do well. Railway in particular will issue a statement for the month which will surpass all expectations, and one can hardly expect for March greater than for any months in the history of the company, but traffic also was all right, according to New York's latest earnings statement. If March earnings are maintained, it will be necessary to review the idea entertained in some quarters concerning the possibility of dividends on the common stock.—Clarendon, with Fenner & Beau.

COTTON LETTER.

New Orleans, April 6.—The cotton market lost part of yesterday's advance owing to Liverpool cables, reports of better weather in the south and realizing for over the weekend. July sold off to 28.60 or 47 points from the high level of yesterday and 35 points net lower. Thus delivery on the 28.65 with the general market closing steady 13 to 31 points net lower.

The market opened barely steady 15 to 20 points lower in response to the relatively easy cables from Liverpool. There was some New Orleans buying, presumably on straddle account, which increased moderate net gains. The foreign buyers' increased offerings, however, made it seem that some of yesterday's buyers were disappointed by the action of Liverpool. The talk was that they had taken yesterday's strength in the English market to mean the beginning of a broadening export demand and this idea evidently was modified by the foreign buyers' increasing morning statement that the higher prices had checked the demand for both home and foreign account in Liverpool. Houses with Liverpool connections were moderate buyers here but the liquidation continued and became rather more active after the publication of the day's detailed market report. The market showed more favorable conditions in the south than have been reported for some time and while selling was checked to some extent by a possibility that unsettled weather would reappear in the southwest before Monday, the market worked gradually lower. May sold off to 30 to 37 cents net lower, while the close was within a few points of the lowest, although there was some buying on the moderately bullish week-end figures.

Two private reports were issued pointing to an increase of about 10 per cent in acreage with one of them suggesting that the increase may be limited if weather conditions from now on were favorable. Port receipts day 6,763. United States port stocks 594,238. Exports 3,450, making 4,065,824 this season.

LOWER PRICES IN N. O. COTTON.

New Orleans, La., April 6.—Lower prices in the cotton market today were mainly due to disappointment over what many traders considered was the collapse of the recently inaugurated boom in Liverpool and to somewhat better weather over the belt. The cotton market came down on the long side and while it was mixed in a liberal sprinkling of short selling, so that the opening was lower, prices were depressed throughout the day and lowest prices were reached in the afternoon when May touched 28.50 cents a pound under the final of yesterday. The close was at net losses of 20 to 35 points, showing the close was within a few points of the lowest, although there was some buying on the moderately bullish week-end figures.

STOCK LETTER.

All the day remained in the hands of professional operators, still trying here and there to bring out stocks, but with no success. The market was firm, though the price during the week that when stocks were down the last week end, was an almost sure sign of better prices.

Secretary Mellon's statement puts this firmly in mind, and the market, which has worked over time on the theory rates, money, credit, etc. Still may not notice the increase of the dividend paid rate for the corporation's principal incomes come from traffic and the statements of responsible heads of the various roads, which are the greatest revenue freight and passenger traffic in their history.—Dureman, Daniel & Co.

STOCK LETTER.

New York, April 6.—Today's cotton market put the interests of share sellers on the alert, but the statistical showing for the week is extraordinarily strong, as the visible supply is reduced to 2,201,000 bales against 2,390,000 of last year. Of further interest is the coming brought into sight for the week, showing that stocks again declined to 137 and 133,000 last year. This illustrates rapid expansion of supplies, and the growth proportionately strong on the substitution of new for old, as reported to March 31, 1922.

While the weather man was dry in all sections of the cotton region, temperatures nearly everywhere were too low to allow the map to be considered wholly favorable, and, in addition to this, there was the new storm area threatening the belt from the south. Statistics for the week were called highly bullish and they helped put the market to its highest which was within 6 to 10 points of yesterday's close. Upturns were not long sustained at any stage of the session. Mills of the world took this week 133,000 bales of American cotton against 133,000 this week last year, while the 133,000 bales of American cotton decreased 120,232 bales against an increase this week last year of 17,800 and was reduced to 20,157,666 bales against 3,381,524 a year ago.

Hyster issued figures on fertilizers, placing sales from March at 787,020 tons in eight cotton states, against 811,600 tons during the same month last year, bringing total sales for eight months of the season in last 1,305,210 during the same period last year.

After Easter Sunday

THE REVIVAL IN THE CHURCHES

"It was not what they saw; it was what actually happened to them." Such was, in effect, the criticism made by one friend concerning last week's article, in which we said that Peter, John and other disciples saw the first Easter morning 19 centuries ago, resulted in changing the whole current of the history of the world.

What our friend meant—and he is right in this—was that if Peter, John and the others had only seen the risen Christ, those men, no matter how firmly they may have believed that they had seen Jesus, living again after the crucifixion, would have been utterly unable to have done the work which they did.

Something more than seeing was needed.

"They must not only see the risen Christ. His Spirit must actually enter their hearts, and live in their lives, so that each one of them could say like Paul:

"I live; yet not I, but Christ liveth in me." In fact, Christ living in them, and not the mere seeing of His beloved form in the garden, on the road to Emmaus, in the upper room, by Galilee, on the Mount of Olives, and on Damascus road, was responsible for transforming the trembling, vacillating and swearing Simon, into Peter, the Rock, and scornful, sneering and cruel Saul of Tarsus into Paul, the apostle.

Men Transformed.

Peter, because Christ is in him, will himself die upon the cross, rather than deny the lost lamb of God by telling them of the risen Lord, who came to save.

Paul, because Christ is in him all of the venom of bitter hate and cruel exclusiveness driven from his life, Paul, the learned scholar, will write: "Though I have the gift of prophecy, and understand all mysteries, and all knowledge; and though I have all faith, so that I could remove mountains, and have not love, I am nothing."

And Paul will be willing not only to die a cruel death. Paul will be willing to have his very soul forever damned, if, by losing his own soul, he might save his own people by bringing them to let the risen Christ into their lives.

Have we such a love and passion for saving others today?

Is Christ, the living Lord, living in our lives?

Last Sunday, the churches of Atlanta were crowded as never before in the history of the city. This week the overflowed churches will tell others of the risen Christ. Every day at noon, at the First Baptist church, on Peachtree street, very close to the business section of Atlanta, so that business men and women may attend, S. D. Gordon, in his quiet talk, away from the Rush of Thrill, has been bringing wonderful messages of our Savior, who is just as mighty today to enter, save and use our lives, as He was when He came into the hearts and lives of Peter and Paul.

Questions For All.

Have you attended any of these services? Have you told others of them?

Have you brought any friend, or loved one, or any stranger to any of these meetings in the hope that they might find Jesus, and let Him into their lives?

Have you, this week, voiced a single prayer to our Father in Heaven, that He might inspire and guide the men speaking in these churches so that they may so tell the "good news" of Jesus, that men and women may see Him, and open their hearts to Him?

Have you praised that Christ may enter every heart in our city?

Have you prayed this prayer for a solitary soul?

Tomorrow, and throughout the coming weeks, these meetings are to continue, in the time testing for those of us who are our own Christians. By hearing that name, we claim that "Christ lives" not in some far-off Heaven, but here on earth in our hearts and lives.

If He were here in the form in which He walked the streets of Jerusalem, what would Jesus be doing? What would He be teaching? What Atlanta's churches are holding in order to make Him known?

The question answers itself. True, that most of His teaching was done by the wayside, down beside the sea in the city's streets, and on the grassy slopes of the hills. But in village or city, when the doors of synagogue and temple swayed in the Master was there. And always, He was preparing for Himself, for those like Peter, John and others who were to teach for Him, and for the cities and institutions who were to hear His message.

Hearing Christ's Voice.

If we will hear His voice, the voice of conscience which speaks within us, who lives our Lord; if we are truly Christians, we, in our way and time, shall do as He did in these days long ago.

You need not be a deeply-learned theologian in order to invite the man or woman, who works beside you in office or store, or, perhaps, he may be in the same floor with you, or maybe in the same building you are in, the seat in the street car, or possibly it is a loved one in your own home, or a friend, whom Christ in your heart is suggesting that you should invite to come to these meetings.

You remember when Philip brought Nathaniel to Jesus, he entered into a long-winded argument with Nathaniel. He only said:

"Can you and we, as individuals, not do as much?"

If each of us will do this, Atlanta will witness a revival such as the city has never known.

And let us not fail to pray. If Peter, James and John needed to be upborne by the prayers of the Master, surely these pastors of our day need our prayers.

If Jesus needed to pray all through the long night for Himself and others, surely we must needs pray a little for ourselves and for our brothers who know not Christ.

Name Baby "King Tut."

Brockbridge, Texas, April 6.—A baby boy, born to Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Whaley, of this city, has been named King Tut after the Pharaoh whose tomb was recently discovered.

"The check of that old guy advertising for a chauffeur. Said he wanted to drive me around Atlanta for 15 miles an hour." "What did you say?" "I told him he didn't want no chauffeur; what he wanted was a nurse to take him cut in a baby carriage."

2 HURT IN AUTO
CRASHES FRIDAY;
NO ARRESTS MADE

Mrs. L. J. McCary, of 194 Delta street, was injured slightly when hit by a motor truck at Forsyth and West Mitchell streets Friday night. The truck was driven by a 16-year-old negro boy, James Bowen, who said that his father owned it. At the time of the accident the truck was moving backward.

A collision Friday between an auto, mobile driven by R. E. Harris, 40, of Bowen's Mill road, and one said to have been driven by Roy Fuller, of Carroll place, at Park avenue and East Fair streets, resulted in slight injuries to Harris. Both cars were badly damaged. Patrolman George Bowes, who witnessed the accident, made no arrests.

Last Huge Steel
Viaduct Girder
Put Into Place

Workmen Will Now Concentrate Their Energies on Concrete Work.

With the last of the huge steel girders required to form the base of the Spring Street viaduct were put into place Friday afternoon, workmen on the project are now concentrating their attention to the concrete work and, ever, thing is progressing splendidly, it was announced by Ewing S. Humphreys, contracting engineer for the Virginia Bridge and Iron company.

Considerable difficulty was experienced in transporting the girders to Atlanta from Roanoke, Va., because of the unusual size and height which necessitated a rail route several hundred miles out of the direct way in order to avoid low hanging bridges and tunnels.

The largest girder in the viaduct measured 130 feet and weighed approximately 56 tons. With virtually all of the steel work now completed, engineers engaged on the project predict that the viaduct will have been completed and ready for use by September 15.
